Sean Mom & Dad,

We're taking it easy tonight after having quite a busy week-end. I went to New York on business Thursday and Vickie came along. We went to a couple of plays and Vickie visited the museums. She brought a print of a long Japanese panel which will get framed and mounted. A fellow at the place I visited told us about a restaurant in the theatre district and we went to it Friday night before the play. It was very crowded but we found a place at the bar and were able to order dinner and eat it right there. It was fun to be in the midst of the pre-theatre crowd and to walk around Manhattan. Unfortunately the weather was very bad - sleet that froze and high winds.

Saturday morning we flew back to Wash D.C. and drove directly to Forktown to stay with the McKintys for the weekend. Sat. night we saw Jimmy Connors play in a tennis tournament and had a good time. Carol is expecting another kid in June/July, and they will be returning to Seattle about then.

My job is still interesting and we really like our apartment. Jim going to San Diego in a couple of weeks and Vickie might come too. The house hasn't sold yet but Jim not worried about it as I know it ~~can~~ can be rented. This offers several tax advantages such as claiming depreciation.

Our weather has been cold, wet, and windy. Hope it changes soon so we can play tennis. Read that collecting old postcards is a growing hobby - Jim & Vickie
